BALLYHAUNIS DEFIBRILLATOR GROUP in association with the National Ambulance Service will host an Information Evening at Ballyhaunis Credit Union on Thursday 17th May at 8.00pm. in relation to establishing a Community First Responder group in Ballyhaunis.

Community First Responders are groups of volunteers, linked to the National Ambulance Service and dispatched by the 999/112 Service to emergencies within the communities they represent, a critical link in the chain of survival. Speakers will include Mark Callanan, Advanced Paramedic and Community Engagement Officer with the National Ambulance Service, and Donna MacSuibhne from Kiltimagh First Responders group. We encourage the community in Ballyhaunis to support this important initiative and attend the meeting. Emergencies are time-dependent; someone who is trained to help can make the difference between life and death.
